

HEALTH & SAFETY COMMITMENT

NEXT MARITIME is a worldwide ship agency and, in addition, acts as customs representative and logistics operator (forwarder).

NEXT MARITIME considers that safety comes first.

For this reason, at NEXT MARITIME we are totally committed to an injury-free culture.

This is our basic goal and we hold ourselves accountable for our own safety and the well-being of everyone else.

NEXT MARITIME Management recognizes and accepts the overall responsibility for the occupational health and safety of our workers and those affected by our operation.

NEXT MARITIME Management is committed to providing a safe and healthy work environment, as well as minimizing the risk of occupational injury and illness in the workplace.

This objective is ranked equally along with other organizational goals.

In fulfilling this objective, we comply with acceptable shipping industry practices and pertinent legislative requirements.

In addition, we strive to eliminate any foreseeable hazards that may result in fire, security, losses, or damage to property.

Our safety programs and plans try to improve industry safety standards, with a direct focus on an accident-free work environment for all.

NEXT MARITIME is implementing a safety management system, certified under ISO 45001 2018, one of the most demanding standards of the industry.

We believe that no safety deficiency can be overlooked, and all employees and contractors are required to exercise due diligence, not only to correct deficiencies but also to focus on preventing unsafe acts and following the best safety practices.
